Azusa Pacific University School of Nursing
Perioperative Nursing Course - Los Angeles
September 7, 2019 - December 14, 2019

Registered Nurses are you looking to specialize in the Operating Room?
Nursing & Human Resources Leaders do you have operating room vacancies?
Azusa Pacific University's Perioperative Nursing Course is now accepting applicants!

Operating Room Nurses provide professional nursing care to patients undergoing surgery by preparing and maintaining the operating room for all surgical procedures including special equipment needed for daily procedures and emergencies, positioning the patient, assisting, scrubbing, and circulating. This 16-week course will provide basic didactic perioperative education that will give the novice OR nurse the rationale and theory needed to provide safe patient care, used in conjunction with a clinical preceptorship.

Course Cost ($2,280) includes:

- Online and face-to-face learning from an experienced OR nurse educator

- All course modules and texts

- Preceptored clinical experience

- 58 BRN-approved contact hours of CE credit + 41.7 contact hours from AORN for completion of Periop 101: A Core Curriculum™

- Required background check and health status tracker completion

- 1-year membership in AORN

Applicants should meet with their hospital's nursing leadership to determine their support for providing a preceptor and work schedule adjustment and the possibility of a paid preceptorship, tuition assistance, and future employment in their OR before enrolling in this course. (If not employed at a hospital, or as a new graduate, please contact us prior to enrolling in this course).

Nursing and Human Resources Leadership, please consider this course as a mechanism to train and transition identified high performing RNs in your organization into the exciting specialty of Perioperative Nursing.
