Description:

Critical thinking is central to effective task management and decision making in high-risk situations. Review how active assessment and analysis of information helps evaluate and improve the quality of thinking, and discuss the key principles and barriers to thinking critically. The course will also focus on the application of critical thinking through the nursing process to help staff arrive at the appropriate decision or conclusion.

Course Objectives

1. Be able to define critical thinking.
2. Gain knowledge and insight into analyzing, reasoning and evaluating problems.
3. Become knowledgeable about intellectual standards.
4. Recognize the barriers to critical thinking.
5. Gain knowledge about the application of critical thinking in nursing practice.
6. Be able to discuss the feeling, vision and examination models.

Faculty

Sylvia Swager CRRN, BHA, has provided instruction for FlexEd since 2012, focusing on classes in leadership, critical thinking, case management and other educational needs to improve the quality of patient care and help others deal with the vast changes and challenges of today's health care. She has more than 30 years of combined nursing experience in nursing administration and case management. She has a Bachelor of Science degree in Health Administration and is a Certified Rehabilitation Registered Nurse (CRRN).
