Description

Few of us have time to assess the trends and efficiency of organized labor from year to year in any kind of systematic manner. Consequently, opportunities to capture and utilize facts or trends might be missed. Most importantly, we are witnessing the metamorphosis of our national labor relations law. The final chapter of this discussion has yet to be written.

Join us for a presentation on labor union trends in the U.S. and California health care industries.

Course Objectives

At the end of this course participants will be able to:

- Learn about formal organized labor activities in the U.S. and California health care industries.
- Identify top labor union organizations in health care.
- Hear about recent NLRB case law changes that impact employers.

Who Should Attend?

The program is intended for:

- Chief Human Resource Officers/Executives
- Chief Nursing Officers/Chief Operating Officers
- Employee and Labor Relations Personnel
- HR Generalists/Specialists
- Talent Management/Organization Development Specialists

Speakers

Douglas R. Hart
Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP

Douglas R. Hart is a partner with Morgan, Lewis & Bockius' labor, employment and benefits division in Los Angeles. A leading class action litigator, he handles nationwide class action litigation and has served as national class action counsel for several Fortune 100 companies. Hart has been highly successful in defending some of the largest class action lawsuits filed against employers both in California and elsewhere, with several of the cases being dismissed outright. He handles all types of employment-related class action lawsuits on behalf of employers, including pay practice and wage hour cases, disparate impact and intentional discrimination cases, and pension plan cases.

John K. Henderson
IRI Consultants

John K. Henderson is a labor and employment lawyer who focuses on positive employee relations and helps employers comply with laws and regulations in an increasingly complicated landscape. In his nearly 30-year career, he has handled more than 250 union organization campaigns, in excess of 100 National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) proceedings, and more than 100 employment law administrative hearings. A graduate of the University of Colorado School of Law, Henderson spent more than nine years advising and representing employers as associate in-house counsel for Mountain States Employers Council, an association of 2,400-plus employers in the Rocky Mountain region. He then spent more than five years as in-house human resources leader for a medium-sized Denver-based company and as vice president of human resources for American Medical Response.
