

Health Care Workplace Violence Prevention Regulations: Sharing Your Experiences in the Behavioral Health Setting

You are invited to participate in a FREE discussion on implementing the Cal/OSHA health care workplace violence prevention regulations.

Join us for a regional roundtable on workplace violence prevention. Professionals who work at psychiatric hospitals and hospitals with psychiatric units that are involved in workplace violence prevention are invited to attend.

The Cal/OSHA health care workplace violence prevention regulations went into effect on April 1, 2017. Hospitals are currently required to record workplace violence incidents; will be required to report workplace violence incidents to Cal/OSHA on July 1, 2017 and are required to have all remaining elements of the regulations in place by April 1, 2018. Hospitals and health systems should be evaluating their current safety and security plans and determining what additional steps are necessary to comply with the regulations. Important decisions include how to comply with the various training obligations, patient assessments, interdisciplinary communication and record-keeping.

This facilitated roundtable will provide a brief overview of the final regulations, with the majority of the time available for participants to share what their organization is doing to comply with the current record-keeping obligation, prepare for the July 1 and April 2018 requirements and strategize on how to overcome challenges. There is no charge to attend this event. Fax RSVP to (213) 482-8537 or register online.
